A GROWING NEWSPAPER IN A GROWING COMMUNITY

Volume 55, No. 21 | CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA | Friday, February 25, 1949

The most spectacular parade in Campbell's history marched down Campbell avenue in colorful splendor Tuesday as thousands looked on. The photographers turned out to snap the parade as it marched to the reviewing stand in front of the grammar school. In the picture panel at the top left is the grand prize winner in the float division, the Campbell Feed & Supply float; the marching band of the Campbell Union High school; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crider of Los Gatos; and Santa Clara County Horseman's Association. In the middle panel left to right are Big Boy Food Mart; Campbell Footlighters; Jones Service; and the Odakonya Camp Fire girls. In the bottom panel left to right are the women of the Campbell Prune and Apricot Growers; the Campbell Hardware company; Campbell Hatchery, and Maderis Food Center. Dr. Raymond Grant Talks Of Pioneers, Old 'n New Before Capacity Audience

"When we honor our pioneers such as today, it is a revelation of ourselves," said Dr. A. Raymond Grant, guest speaker from Sacramento, at the afternoon program for Old Settlers' Day in the grammar school auditorium. Dr. Grant is pastor of the First Methodist church in the capital city. He spoke before a capacity crowd.

" By coming together today to pay honor to those pioneers we are bearing testimony to their greatness," Dr. Grant said. "Imagine how terrible it would be, and how lost we would feel, if there were no past to remember, no pioneers to honor, no past deeds to learn from," he said.

The age of the pioneers is not at a standstill, according to the speaker. "For today we are pioneers in a new field—personal relationships," he remarked. "Everyone of us can be a pioneer in that field today."

The faith, courage and optimism of the past must again be called into play in this new pioneer field of personal relationships, Dr. grant stated.

"We need a spirit of togetherness," said the pastor. "And we can be pioneers in social, political, and international relationships, to," he added.

"By being here today we serve notice on the world that we will not forget our pioneers. We are perpetuating their influence year in and year out in everything we do," he concluded.

Prior to Dr. Grant's speech the Campbell Union grammar school orchestra, under the direction of Richard Gordon, played two numbers. Dr. Grant was then introduced by Rev. Lawrence Osborne of Campbell.

Following the speech by the guest, Willis Dahl gave several vocal and Hawaiian guitar solos for the capacity crowd. Then Sally Blackburn sand two soprano solos.

Taking the theme from the Grieg concerto, Jeanette Gomes entertained the audience with a piano solo. Concluding the afternoon program was the Campbell Union high school trio composed of Beverly Clawson violin; Mardell Sanders, cello; and Joyce Klassen, piano.

Highlight of both the morning and afternoon program was the art exhibit of the oil paintings by Frank H. Cutting, prominent Campbell artist, in the grammar school hall.

Seven of the artist's paintings hung on the walls of the school and attracted throngs of people. In the collection were landscapes of familiar scenes around this area.

The morning program started off at 10:30 a.m. with the registration of old settlers with Mark Purmort acting as registrar. A special program featuring Old Settlers' Day motion pictures, a vocal solo by Ruth Cousins and talks by Old Setlers followed next. The morning's entertainment was highlighted by a luncheon in the grammar school cafeteria. Mrs. Florence Fuller was in charge.

Laurance J. Hill, William C. Henley, and T. A. Cutting were in charge of the morning and afternoon program. Carl Fields, Guy Farley, Ira Grim, Dobie Jeffers, and G. K. Schrader were on the School District Gets Go Ahead For Construction

Bids totaling $123,849 have been awarded for the construction of four classrooms and an administrative unit at Moorpark, and an administrative unit and single classroom at San Tomas school to start immediately. George J. Lauer, San Jose, was awarded the $74,067 contract for Moorpark and C. F. Parker, San Francisco, received the $49,783 contract for the San Tomas construction.

"The above funds are being financed under State Emergency schol buildings funds," said William C. Henley, superintendent of Campbell Elementary School District.

Last Friday members of the Board Edwin C. Van de Mark, Lee L. Anderson, E. L. Farnham and Henley took papers to Sacramento to secure approval of bids from the Division of Finance. "Due to all papers being in order and the urgency of the situation, the Division of Finance gave immediate approval to the school district to proceed immediately," said Henley.

Additions of eight more rooms to the Moorpark school, six more rooms to the San Tomas school, and six more rooms to the Campbell school will be started within a few weeks, said the superintendent.

Tonight the actors of the succesful production "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" presented by the Campbell Footlighters will stage their last performance of the gay comedy. The play opens at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Highway Patrol Calls For Guards To Aid Children At Street Corners

Pedestrian crossing guards are needed in Campbell, reports the California Highway Patrol. Persons are wanted to direct traffic on roads where children cross in going to and from school.

Tomorrow the Highway Patrol will hold examinations for pedestrian crossing guard between 9 a.m. and noon at the Administration building, 408 Almaden avenue, San Jose. The patrol, which promises work largely on a part-time basis, will select persons only from this locality following the exam.

Veterans will be given preference for the positions, according to the Highway Patrol office.

In order to take the examination a person must be a U.S. citizen and a California resident for the past year. He must also be able to read and write; have good judgment in dealing with children and motorists; maturity; high moral standards; neat appearance; willingness to work part-time and on split shifts; willingness and ability to travel to and from the place of work without additional travel allowance; willingness to accept assignment to various crossings in the same general vicinity; willingness and ability to purchase a simple uniform as prescribed by the department of California Highway Patrol.

Application blanks may be obtained and must be filed in person at the examination building.

Union Drum Corps Marches Proudly In Local Parade

Marching proudly in the Old Settlers' Day parade Tuesday were the boys and girls of the Union District Elementary school drum corps. The 16 flag-bearers and three majorettes were led in the gala celebration by principal and drum corps leader Kenneth McDonell.

The Union Drum Corps was organized two years ago. The children are in the age group from fourth to eighth grade inclusive and practice for a half hour at noon two days a week to perfect the formations for marching.

Sponsors of the corps is the Mothers club of the school. They bought uniforms, drums, and flags so that the group might march in parades. In two years they've donated over $500 for the children's corps. Future plans include bugles for the corps, according to the Mother's club.

Union Elementary school has doubled its student enrollment since 1947. At present there are 200 children attending classes there.

Troop 31 was well represented in the Old Settlers' Day Parade Tuesday. The troop, in full uniform, turned out to march with the rest of the youth organizations of Campbell. Next major activity for the boys is a three-day camp at Pinecrest conducted from February 24-26.

Campbell Avenue Is Packed As Largest Crowd Ever Turns Out For Annual Local Celebration

The pulse of Campbell ran high Tuesday as thousands borrowed anything from a bicycle to a tamed steer to ride in or watch the hour and ten minute sensational street parade promenade down the main street of Campbell. Crowds lined Campbell avenue on both sides to watch the fun and frolic that climaxed the 58th Old Settlers' Day celebration.

The fun began in the morning with the registration of old settlers in the Campbell Union grammar school auditorium. Oldest settler in Santa Clara valley to register at the school was Bessie Merrill who wrote 1849 as the date she settled in this valley. Charlotte W. Sutter, another old settler, came here in 1864 and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fore registered their arrival in Santa Clara valley as 1875.

All told, 124 names were added to the registration book for 1949, many of which were couples registering together.

The parade, which started at the creek on East Campbell avenue and dispersed on Rincon, passed the reviewing stand both in slow splendor and beauty and in rapid humurous order. Top float for the day went to the Campbell Feed & Supply company for their beautiful paper float featuring a giant replica of a hen on which rode a pretty girl.

First, second and third awards, and in some cases, honorable mention, were in the following order:

Riding Pairs: Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crider of Los Gatos, with their gleaming silver-mounted outfits; Jack Wilds and Francis Baxter; Bob Markham and Beverly Benson and the Cataldi sisters.

Posse Groups: Santa Clara County Horseman's association, Santa Clara County Sheriff's posse.

Drum Corps: Memory Post 399, American Legion of San Jose; Union elementary school drum and bugle groups.

Bands: Campbell Union high school.

Riding Groups: Guadalupe Registered Riders (Red Shirts), Montezuma School for Boys, Mayfair Riders and Santa Clara County Junior Horsemen's association.

Civic Groups: Business and Professional Woman's club (a float showing a group of feminine baseball players enjoying a game under night lights. The club's year project is raising funds to buy night lights for the grammar school diamond), Netops Council, Degree of Pocahontas, IOOF and Campbell Footlighters.

Industrial: Campbell Hatchery (featuring a group of "slick-chix" in pastel formals who tossed eggs to wide-eyed and cautious spectators), California Prune & Apricot Growers (dressed in realistic dried fruit packaging), Hunt Foods Inc., and Western Gravel company.

Juvenile Groups: Odakonya

Miss Marion Peake Gives Inspiring Talk on Flowers, People In Europe To Members of Campbell Garden Club

Miss Marion Peake, traveler and lecturer, spoke to the members of the Campbell Garden club at their meeting February 16 in the Country Woman's club. Miss Peake spoke on gardens and planting in Europe.

Mrs. Harold Peck, president, presided over the meeting. She announced that 12 representatives from the club would attend the installation luncheon Wednesday at Lou's Village given by the Santa Clara Flower Lovers' club. The district president, Mrs. R. L. Tuckey, was scheduled to speak on the coming centennial program.

In her talk to the women, Miss Peake told of her personal experiences in Europe, from which she has just returned. She spoke of the gardens in various countries and the feeling of gratitude among the people of Europe for the seeds sent to them by Americans.

The Robert Burns garden was described by Miss Peake in detail because of its great beauty. She also told of other famous gardens she had visited.

Miss Peake, who will return shortly to Europe with the U. S. Army, told the women how gratefully received the CARE packages are in Europe today.

"Her talk to the club was one of the most inspiring ones we have ever had the pleasure to hear," said Mrs. Peck. "Miss Peake gave us the clearest picture possible of the situation in Europe today."

Chairmen for the afternoon were Mrs. Vivian Johnson and Mrs. Anita Preata. It was decided at the business meeting that the March 16 meeting would be set aside as election day for new officers and tea.

Several guests attended the meeting. The women donated money to send eight packages of seeds in the "Seeds for Peace" program to needy in Europe.

A round table discussion will be held at the next meeting on March 2 at 2 p.m. in the Country Woman's club.

A nice new piano has been purchased by the district and has been placed in the kindergarten room. It has been equipped with special rubber wheels and can be moved around easily where needed.

A bass drum, snare drum, stands and music books have been purchased for the Moorpark school in preparation for the school orchestra which Principal Mabie plans to organize from the 20 school pupils who have been receiving instruction on various instruments since last November. Double session of classes is an obstacle in the way of getting the pupils of both sessions together in an orchestra but this is being worked out.

Jean Christansen, fifth grade, reporting—

Miss De Benedettos first grade class is studying about good meals. They have pictures on the wall about what you should eat at every meal. At breakfast you should eat cereal, a glass of milk, toast and an orange or orange juice. For a good lunch you should eat meat, salad, carrots, pudding and cake. For a good dinner you should eat a glass of milk, spinach, an egg on toast, apricots and cookies.

Carol Young, fifth grade, reporting—

The kindergarten went to the San Jose Children's library on Friday, February 11. The librarian told them a few stories. Then they looked at pictures. This gives the children good a idea on what is in the library. Mrs. Dorothy Mauseth and Mrs. Florence Meyers, our kindergarten teachers, went with their classes by the school bus.

BPWC Calls Clubs For Meeting On Ballpark Lights

All Campbell organizations are invited to attend the meeting called by the Business and Professional Women's club to obtain lights for the baseball diamond on the Campbell school grounds. The mass meeting will be held Wednesday, March 2, at 8 p.m. in the Campbell grammar school auditorium.

Mrs. Mary Gray is chairman of the BPWC committee. Acquisition of night lights for the ball field is the major project of the year for this women's group.

Since the club cannot finance the project alone they are calling on assistance of the local organizations to aid in obtaining the lights. A speaker will be present at the meeting to outline costs of the project, necessary equipment and other pertinent information.

Assisting Mrs. Grey in the meeting of all club presidents and representatives is Mrs. Azalea Shaw and Mrs. Edith Anderson. The BPWC members voted to undertake the project last September following hearings by many baseball players who expressed the opinion that more games could be scheduled if lights were installed.

In the Old Settlers' parade Tuesday the BPWC depicted a baseball float in which a game was in progress with lights, rooters, and baseball atmosphere.

SPOTLIGHTING SPORTS

By MARV SCARPER

Big item of conversation around school this last week is the forfeiting of the Campbell-Los Gatos varsity basketball game to Los Gatos. The game was protested by Los Gatos, claiming Don Coronado was ineligible because he had not passed a sufficient number of certain courses at San Jose high the previous semester. The matter was brought before the SCVAL at their last meeting. After much discussion it was decided to forfeit the game to Los Gatos. On the records Los Gatos will get credit for a 1-0 win in the varsity game.

As a result of the forfeit the whole SCVAL has joined the North Coast Section of the California Interscholastic Federation. This will enable other athletes in the SCVAL to compete in CIF track meets, tennis meets, and so on. All the teams will have to abide by CIF rules and will be under jurisdiction of the SCVAL commissioner. The commissioner will go around to all schools and weigh in all athletes at the first of each semester.

This will go to raise the SCVAL in prestige and will tend to better athletic competition throughout the league.

The local basketball squads suffered setbacks at the hands of the Santa Clara Panthers. The varsity was set down 31-24 while the 130's were completely swamped by the championship bound Panthers, 42-9. The varsity kept up with the Panthers in the first half and only trailed 11-8 at halftime but fell short in the second half and bowed out for their fourth league loss against two wins. Leading scorers for Campbell were forward Dan Estrada and guard Bob Jordon with six points apiece. Forward Don Morley was not up to his regular game as he was playing with an infected hand which affected his shooting accuracy.

In the 130 game the local lightweights could not seem to break the Santa Clara pressing man to man defense and were literally played off the floor. The Santa Clara squad played as if the game were the most important one of the season. This was a contributing factor to the Buc's defeat. If Santa Clara wins the 130 championship they deserve it. Tonight's game will tell as they play the previously unbeaten Los Gatos 130 squad in the championship game.

Tonight the Buccaneers tangle with Gilroy in the last home game of the season. So if you want to see the Bucs in action for the last time this year, come out and see the Campbell-Gilroy basketball game in the Campbell gym at 7:30 p.m. Probable varsity starters are Dan Estrada and Don Merrill at forwards, Harold Layman at center, and Dan Forrest and Ron Cantoni at guards. Ron Cantoni was elected honorary captain by the varsity squad last night.

Fans Brave Skies To See Maderis Whip Firemen 3-2

Despite threatening skies baseball fans from the entire area flocked to the Campbell High school diamond Sunday to see the Maderis Food nine down the San Tomas Firemen 3-2. The old veteran southpaw Virg Detherow and Ernie Jordan hooked up in a pitcher's dual that thrilled the fans for the first five innings of hitless ball.

Then Maderis drew first blood in the sixth inning and brought two runs across the plate. San Tomas evened the count in the seventh and Maderis came back in the last of the eighth with the winning run.

Jordan sent 14 Firemen down the strikeout route and allowed three walks. Detherow collected 10 strikeouts and allowed four free passes.

On Sunday the San Tomas Firemen take on the undefeated Billy's Cafe squad at the Fremont High school diamond in Sunnyvale.

Campbell High Will Be Affected By SCVAL Adoption of Calif. Interscolastic Fed. Constitution, Eligiblity Rules

The constitution and eligibility rules of the North Coast Section of the California Interscholastic Federation were officially adopted by the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League officials this week. The change will become effective Saturday, March 5.

The most noticeable change that will be brought about by the switch in rules will be in the different method of selecting athletes for various weight classifications. A new name will be given each of the three lightweight divisions.

The SCVAL lightweight teams of the past were known as 130, 120, and 110 exponent teams. Now they will be called teams B, C. and D; each letter corresponding to the former weights respectively. Exponents are determined by an athlete's age, height and weight.

"Going under the CIF rules will be much better for the athletic teams in high schools," commented Bill Perry, physical education instructor at Campbell Union high school. "By adopting the CIF constitution and eligibility rules there will be no confusion on rules and misunderstandings as in the past."

By accepting the CIF rules, Perry explained, the coaches in the SCVAL can clarify any misunderstanding by checking the CIF rules or calling the athletic commissioner and know at the same time that it is official and undisputed.

In track and field, the SCVAL will retain its four divisions of competition. However, only two are recognized by the CIF. SCVAL athletes will be classed into the CIF classifications for competition in the annual NCS track meet. In that instance, varsity men will be those with more than 85 exponents, while those with less will be classed in Class B.

"All schools will be required to exchange blue blanks by the CIF ruling," said Perry. "At the beginning of each sports season each school will make out the blanks The names included on them will be eligible for competition in the sport which is in season at that particular time."

If there is any change in the list all schools in the league will be notified at once so the list may be revised.

"The SCVAL commissioner, Gene Arnold, will certify all league athletes," said the Buc coach. "He'll visit each school unannounced to weigh and classify the boys in the seasonal sport."

Under the new setup mid-term graduates will be cut off from athletic eligibility effective with their graduation from high school. This differs from the former SCVAL ruling which allowed mid-term graduates to finis out a sport, providing they remain in school under a post graduate course.

"There won't be any radical departure from SCVAL rules with the acceptance of the CIF constitution," Perry said, "yet it will be a great help in clearing up matters and rules that were debatable before."

SCVAL Declares Los Gatos Winner Of Cat-Buc Game

Los Gatos was declared winner of the early season disputed Wildcat-Campbell high basketball game. News came this week that the Santa Clara Valley athletic league officials reversed the outcome of the game which was originally won by the Bucs, 28-22.

The dispute arose when Los Gatos officials brought out the fact to the league that Don Coronado, Campbell star, was ineligible due to a scholastic ruling. The decision changed the score for the records to a 1-0 win for the Los Gatos boys.

"The whole dispute was unfortunate," said Coach Bill Perry of the Bucs. "Naturally we knew of no such ruling at the time of the game. We're glad that the matter was finally cleared up however."

Busy Bee Takes Overtime Game From Spunky Jones Quintet, 34-29 In First Game of League Play-Offs

In a thrilling overtime finish Busy Bee quintet dropped two buckets and a free throw to down the spunky Jones Service boys 34-29 last night in the Campbell league second half playoffs in the local high school gym.

The Jones five plugged up a 10 point gap in the closing minutes of the game to tie the score 29 all. Then in the overtime period Heatherington and Parnay teamed up with two lightning baskets to send the Busy Bee ahead with the winning tallies. Lee Estrada, high point man and Jones star, did not appear for last night's tilt.

With this victory safely tucked away, Busy Bee takes on the classy Maderis five Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the second game of the playoffs. Should Maderis defeat Busy Bee they would walk off with the Campbell Basketball league championship, as they took first place in the first half season's play. But if Busy Bee, an impressive bunch of ball-handlers, whip the casaba boys from the food market, they entitle themselves to the championship play-offs with Maderis. If necessary, the first game of the championship play-offs will be held Thursday, March 3, in the high school gym. Two games would follow the next week with winner taking two out of three.

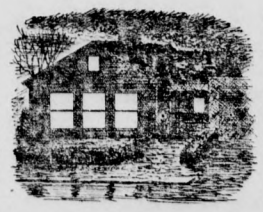
High-voltage trouble shooters

When winter storms hurl broken trees across power lines, trained P. G. and E. "trouble shooters" speed into action to restore your electricity. First step is to set up road blocks around the danger zone. Then, armed with "hot line" tools, the crewmen unscramble the high-voltage wires which may still be charged with electricity.

Next they cut out any sections that must be replaced, repair them fast and flash the word to the Dispatcher to begin pouring power back into the lines.



"SOS" is radioed or otherwise rushed to every "trouble man" in the area ...and the closest are assigned to the mission. If they need extra help, they call for reinforcements.

Lights go on again fast because P. G. and E. trouble shooters stand a 24-hour vigil. Their job is to keep power flowing to homes, farms and factories.

Near Capacity Crowd Jams Way Into Auditorium For Legion Dance

A near capacity crowd jammed its way into the Campbell Union high school auditorium Tuesday night to swing and sway to the music of Jay Kanney, watch the coronation of Barbara Musler, and applaud Junior Wirth into the championship Whiskerino title.

The four-hour dance was highlighted by the grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Reese which climaxed the coronation ceremonies. Lead couples in the march, in addition to the Reeses, were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kaber and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hyde.

The processional started at 9:45 p.m. and following the march Steve Butler, emcee for the evening, crowned the Campbell girl and presented her, and runners-up Connie Silva and Lorraine Wilcox, with a lapful of luscious prizes.

Following the awarding of the Whiskerino contest award to Junior Wirth, the large crowd danced for two hours until the music was halted for a number by little Deana Stearns, Hawaiian dance specialist. Deana interpreted three island dances for the enthusiastic crowd. Following her third number, the "Hawaiian War Chant," the audience demanded an encore of the talented 10-year-old.

When the dance closed at 1 a.m. the people attending admitted it was one of the finest dances the American Legion had put on in Campbell to date.

Reese Calls For Final Reports

Final reports of all committees should be ready for the next Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday, March 16, announced Forrest Reese, secretary.

"We at the Chamber of Commerce wish to thank the people of Campbell for the fine job they did in making this year's Old Settlers' Day celebration the finest we've ever had," said Reese. "The cooperation and spirit Tuesday were wonderful and we're sure our visitors liked the celebration and parade as much as the people of Campbell did. Thanks again to everyone."

Final meeting of all committee heads and committees on Old Settlers' Day will meet Tuesday, March 8, at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, said Reese. All reports should be complete by that time, he added.

"Those organizations which had booths in the carnival should turn in their financial reports to chairman Ed Hubert immediately," reminded Reese.

Children's Service Guild Accepts 86 Charter Members, Constitution At Meeting In S. C. ounty Hospital

A constitution was read for and approved by the women of the Children's Service Guild at its meeting in North Hall of the Santa Clara County hospital February 17. In accepting the constitution 86 charter members were officially registered in the young organization. Presiding at the meeting was president Mrs. Vincent Gorman.

Mrs. Eugene C. Andres Jr., secretary, read the rules and regulations for volunteer workers. She stressed proper wearing apparel and suggested all new members contact volunteer chairman Mrs. John Hummel before going to the hospital.

It was announced that there is a desperate need for volunteers between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. to amuse the older children while the nurses are feeding the babies. At the same time a recommendation was made and approved for a $5 monthly allowance to be available for supply replacements in the play closet. The women then appointed a committee to buy a recorder conveyor.

Miss Lucille Baer, pediatric head nurse, stated that the children appreciated the music brought to them more than anything else. She suggested that members have their children cut funnies into strips so that the hospital children could make them into chains.

"The scrapbooks are more fun for the children when the materials are sent in so that they can make the books themselves," she told the group.

The women voted to have four teas during the year. Miss Mabel Radcliff, public health nurse, and Mrs. Lola Turner of KSJO were introduced.

Barney Barrett To Promote New Air Force Squadron For S. C. County

Bernard Barrett, Campbell, today announced plans for the formation of a Santa Clara county squadron of the National Air Force association. First meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Montgomery theater of the Civic auditorium, San Jose, March 11, 1949.

"As we are just starting out in this county we would like to see as many Campbell Air Force veterans as possible turn out for the organizational meeting," said Barrett. "All former members of the Air Force are eligible for the squadron," he said.

The Air Force Association, under the presidency of C. R. Smith, former Deputy Commander of the Air Transport Command, has its national headquarters at 1616 K street, N.W., Washington, D. C. It is now engaged in sponsoring formation of state Wings and local Squadrons. The three million men and women who formed the world's greatest air force are now being urged to unite in the new organization.

A distinguished group of former enlisted men and officers, elected at each anual convention, are serving as officers and directors of the Association.

Jimmy Doolittle, the famed Tokyo raider and later a lieutenant general in command of the Eighth, Twelfth and Fifteenth Air Forces, is chairman of the board of directors of the Association.

General Henry P. Arnold, former commanding general of the Army Air Force, is quoted as having told Doolittle that his acceptance of the first presidency of the Association at the time of its organization in 1946 is a "guarantee to future success" of the Association. General Carl Spaatz and other former and present ranking Air Force officers are solid supporters of the new organization.

General Doolittle has said that "three points should be made clear" in connection with the Association.

"First: This is a non-profit organization. It was created for the benefit of its members and the Air Force they served so loyally. It has no axe to grind of a commercial nature.

"Second: No attempt will be made to duplicate the legislative and financial benefits which membership in veterans' organizations affords. Neither will the Air Force Association cross the lines of the national organizations operating in the public interest in behalf of aviation and air power such as the National Aeronautical Association and the Air Power League. It will work through such organizations in matters of national and mutual interest.

"Third: Policy will be determined by the voting members of this Association. U. S. Air Force personnel on active duty are cordially invited to become associate members which will entitle them to all the privileges of regular membership except the right to vote and to hold office."

The stated aims and purposes of the Air Force Association are:

1. To assist in every way possible in obtaining and maintaining proper recognition of the Air Forces in order that adequate air power may at all times be available for the defense of our country.

2. To advise its members and to educate the public at large in development of air power, and to disseminate information on new accomplishments in the field of aviation.

3. To preserve and foster the spirit of fellowship among former and present members of the U.S. Air Force, and to provide an organization through which the traditions of the Air Force may be perpetuated.

The Association will continue publication of and distribution to its membership of Air Force Magazine, which was published during the war years.

All former men and women of the USAF, as well as present members of the Air National Guard and the Air Reserve, who are now eligible for membership in the association, are invited and urged to attend this meeting.

A separate parade section was set aside for the Cambrian children. They received prizes for their school traffic safety patrol, Cub Scouts, 4-H club and Brownies. Another special attraction was a pet parade, prizes in which went to a girl on a burro, known only to the judges as "Sara of Saratoga;" Jeannette Cobb for her brown and white goat, Janet Hollinger for her dog, King; and David Beline, who carried his huge white rabbit.

The Hollister Wheelmen with their trick bicycles that delighted the adults and sent the children into stitches received a special prize as did the Shady Hollow Ranch, with cute burro entry, and Benny Di Salvo, riding his saddle-broke steer.

The people of Campbell and their visitors rubbed elbows on the curbs of Campbell avenue to view the sights the parade held for them. Amid "Oh's-ah's and chuckles" and such remarks as "It's the best parade ever!" an approximate 64 different groups passed by for inspection and approval.

A rousing hand of applause was given the queen, pretty 17-year-old Barbara Musler as she rode by on her majestic float with six girls as her attendants. Barbara wore a pink formal and sat on a throne provided by the American Legion Post 596, on whose float she rode.

Light rain started falling at 1:30 p.m., a half an hour after the parade had started, but the crowd determined to watch the longest parade in Campbell's history, remained steadfast. Dogs, marching with little masters in the Pet section, yelped and barked; splendid looking horses trotted by in proud fashion; and comics, always a part of any parade, delighted children with their antics on tricycles and bicycles of yesteryear.

The carnival was kept busy all day and into the night. Girls squealed on the loop-the-loop and anxious game callers barked out the merits of their booth as hundreds jammed the grounds to see the sights.

The finish of the big day came at 9 p.m. Tuesday night when hundreds spruced up to attend the American Legion dance in the high school auditorium.

Old Settlers' Day, February 22, 1949, was a huge success.

Ticket sales will commence March 7 and as each unit, Cubs and Scouts, will receive its proportionate share of the profits based upon the number of tickets sold. Butler Resigns As Manager To Go To Los Angeles

Steve Butler, former manager of the Campbell theater, resigned his local position to become district manager for another theater company in Los Angeles. His replacement has not been anounced.

Before he came to Campbell in August of 1948 Butler was business manager of the Menlo Park guild in Menlo Park. He also owned and operated a real estate, insurance business in Palo Alto and Menlo Park. Since his arrival here last year Butler has been very active in community projects.

"I wish to thank the schools, civic groups, boy scouts, American Legion, and city and county officials who have helped make my stay in Campbell so successful," Butler said. "and I really enjoyed being master of ceremonies at the Old Settlers' Day dance Tuesday."

On Wednesday night Butler returned to present Barbara Musler, Old Settlers' Day queen, with a trophy from the staff on the stage of the theater. also present were the runners-up Connie Silva and Lorraine Wilcox. The sponsors of the queen contest, the American Legion post 596, sent H. R. Strickland and Bernard Barrett to help Butler with the presentation.

"It was great fun sharing in the celebration of Campbell this year and I wouldn't have missed it for anything," remarked Butler. "So thanks again to everyone for the wonderful cooperation I've received while in Campbell."

Butler and his wife will take a week's vacation before leaving for the south to start his new assignment.

Throughout the state, assessed value of taxable property averages $1188 per capita for 1948-49. For 1947-48 it was $1102, and for 1941-42 it averaged $990.

Total value of taxable property in California amounts to $12,193,012,251 this year, compared with $10,994,662,625 last year, and $7,350,926,865 for 1941-42.

Valuations for 1949-50 are in process of being set by local county assessors, city assessors, and the state board of equalization, the Taxpayers association pointed out.

"As the taxable value of a community increases, each penny of tax rate levied in that community brings in more property taxes."

GLAD IT HAPPENED — A SHORT-SHORT STORY By RICHARD H. WILKINSON

"THERE are some things," said the girl, "that money can't buy."

Paul stared at her, conscious of a sinking sensation inside of him. There it was again. That damnable reference to his money, the implication that he measured all things, even human emotions, with dollars and cents.

The girl tugged on her bathing cap. Paul said: "I'm sorry. My reputation has apparently preceded me."

He had arrived at the hotel that morning. He hadn't met or talked with a soul save middle-aged and portly Henry Van Sayre, whose invention he had come down to investigate. Completing his business with Van Sayre, he had walked down to the beach and saw the girl with the ash-colored hair. He had only meant to be friendly.

Janice informed the desk clerk that she'd like to speak to Paul Thompson on a room phone.

"It has," said the girl, tartly. "It's hard to believe that any man, even a dumb rich one, would think he could exalt himself in the eyes of a girl simply by agreeing to finance her uncle's worthless invention. Some girls still do have pride, you know."

She turned abruptly, heading for the water. Paul, his eyes wide, watched her wade in, dive gracefully through a breaking wave, and strike out for the float. His mouth closed firmly. A cold hardness came into his eyes. There was a determination in his stride as he hurried back toward the hotel.

Portly Henry Van Sayre was contentedly musing over the pleasantries that the royalties on his invention would buy when the door opened and his benefactor strode inside. Henry did not like the expression in his benefactor's eyes. Too often he had seen such an expression before—in the eyes of other possible invention-financiers.

"I'm retracting my offer," Paul said abruptly. "I'm no longer interested in you or your bright ideas. Especially am I not interested in any ash-colored haired nieces you might have."

Dangling her bright red bathing cap as she headed back toward the hotel, Janice Van Sayre thought idly: "He was nice, though. What a pity he tried to buy my interest. Oh, why do there have to be millionaires with such ideas, and why did I have to have an uncle who invents silly things that nobody ever can use?"

She was in a strangely depressed mood as she mounted the veranda steps. The mood vanished at sight of Uncle Henry bearing down on her from the lobby entrance. She knew the signs. This time she was in for it and in for it plenty.

"You idiot! Paul Thompson didn't even know I had a niece!"

"Now, Uncle, you can't make me believe that isn't the first time you've used me to promote interest among your prospects."

"You've ruined my chances twice before because of your so-called pride. This time you've made a fool of yourself. Thompson and I had been corresponding for weeks. He wanted that gadget of mine. He arrived this morning unexpectedly. How could he know I had a niece? If you don't believe me, I'll show you our correspondence."

Janice sat down. She felt she would have fallen if she didn't. Her uncle was telling the truth. He had never lied to her. Accused, he had previously always admitted his artifice. She felt humiliated and cheap and altogether foolish. There was only one thing to do.

Twenty minutes later, attractively dressed, Janice informed the desk clerk that she'd like to speak to Paul Thompson on a room phone.

Janice bit her lip. It wasn't as easy as she hoped. Still, in a way, it would prove the sincerity of her purpose, if she were put to some trouble. She called Paul Thompson's office on long distance. A woman answered. Mr. Brown, Mr. Thompson's secretary had gone to Ocean Side for the week-end. No, she didn't know where Mr. Thompson could be reached.

Janice hurried from the hotel. The regular afternoon amphibian was just about to take off for Ocean side. There was one seat left. She reached the resort at 4 P. M., spent an hour locating Mr. Brown, only to learn that he hadn't the faintest idea where Paul Thompson was.

Depressed, Janice returned by train. Now the sense of defeat was overpowering. She would never, she knew, have any peace of mind until she had accomplished her purpose. Tomorrow she would call New York again. She would call every day until she was able to locate Paul Thompson.

After dinner she went down to the beach, feeling unhappy and remorseful. A figure came toward her. "Well, Miss Money Maker!"

She gasped. Hot anger surged inside of her. She suppressed the impulse to retort.

"You're here! I've gone to no end of trouble to locate you. I want to apologize. I'm really sorry. I didn't know that—that—"

"That I wasn't aware your uncle had a beautiful niece?"

She waited. He said: "Let's forget it. I understand. Even rich men have pride. That's why I left so impulsively. When I cooled off, I saw your point and came back. I—wanted to apologize."

They looked at each other, there in the moonlight, and suddenly both were glad it had happened. Uncle Henry figured not at all in this new thing that each had found.

Successful Parenthood

BY MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

WHY DO children tell lies? There are almost as many answers to this question as there are children. Since we've already discussed many phases of this problem, today we shall devote our space to a true story which we think sheds light on one frequent prompting to untruthfulness on the part of children.

The story begins when I was a child of about 10. I remember the clucks of excitement when a neighbor's child, Janie Martin, who was seven years old, was branded at school as a liar and a thief. This came about when the teacher told the class that she had lost a ring and asked if any of them had seen it, whereupon Janie's hand went up to assure the teacher that she had found the missing ring. But when asked to produce it, Janie hedged, "I took it home," she said, but promised to bring it the next day.

When she failed again to produce the ring, Janie continued to temporize. "I gave it to my mother," she said.

Now the teacher happened to know Janie's mother, so she accompanied the child home that evening to reclaim her ring. But Mrs. Martin knew nothing about the ring or about her child's claim of having found it. After long questioning Janie's mother finally joined the teacher and other censorious adults in deciding that her daughter was hiding the ring in the hope of being able to keep it, and was trying to lie her way out of the tangle.

A few days later, however, a boy found the ring in the gravel of the play yard and the teacher somewhat reluctantly cleared Janie's name before the class. Yet the doubt remained—had Janie dropped the ring in the school yard when she saw her game was up?

Now we jump a lot of years to one of those chance encounters on a train. In the meantime I hadn't seen Janie since we had all grown up and scattered. But the old friend I bumped into on the train had moved to the town where Janie now lives and they had become friends. Knowing that I was interested in child-psychology she remarked during our chat, "Janie told the most amusing story one day at a luncheon about something that happened to her when she was a child." It was then that I finally got Janie's own version of the old story about the teacher's ring.

Janie, who has grown into a spirited and attractive woman, said that as a child she had found life very dull. She was shy and nondescript-looking and no one paid any attention to her. Each day when the teacher asked the children to relate any interesting adventures they had had, Janie had nothing to contribute. She thought there must be something wrong with her and her family that nothing exciting ever happened to them. The day when the teacher announced the loss of her ring Janie had been feeling particularly left out of things. All of a sudden she saw her opportunity to figure in a thrilling event—and that's when Janie's hand went up to say she had found the ring. She confessed that though she had become a bit frightened over being expected to come across with the ring, on the whole this was the only memorable experience of her early childhood and she had enjoyed being the center of even reproving attention. The story points its own moral, don't you agree?

THE FARMER'S CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California).

Another flip of the calendar and blustery March will be here—and with it the political winds will whip throughout the state in ever-increasing fury.

Present indications are that California politics are quite likely to reach a new high in off-year intensity.

While no regular state-wide campaigns are scheduled for 1949, there is the possibility that Governor Warren will call a special election on the initiative petition recently filed in Sacramento to repeal Proposition No. 4—if the petition qualifies.

In addition, of course, California's Legislature will reconvene Monday, March 7, to tackle the record 4,939 measures introduced in the two houses during the first part of the season.

The California Council for the Blind filed with the Attorney General's ofice the initiative petition "to repeal Proposition No. 4 and revive and re-enact the pension laws which were nullified by the passage of that measure last November."

The new petition, the Council for the Blind reports, would leave in effect pensions, approved by the people, of $85 monthly for the blind and $75 monthly for the aged. However, it would bring back those portions of the statutes which would return to the Legislature the power to make changes in public assistance laws relating to the blind and aged.

Furtner details of the new initiative are as follows: If it is adopted by the people, there no longer will be a lien on all state monies for pensions. Instead, sources of payment are designated.

The "responsible relative" clause, formerly in the Welfare and Institutions Code, will be reinstated, too, so that the State need not assume unnecessary burdens. The minimum age for pension recipients will be 65 years in conformity with federal standards, rather than 63 as is the case in Proposition No. 4. The change in age limit, it is estimated, will bring about a substantial saving in State pension payments, as the Federal government does not contribute assistance except for those 65 and over and the State has to carry the entire cost of pensions for those between the ages of 63 and 65.

Speaking on the new petition, Dr. Newel Perry, president of the California Council for the Blind, sated that "the blind of California have felt compelled to spearhead a drive to repeal Proposition No. 4 because it deprives them of the protection of legal rights and subjects them to arbitrary and autocratic administration of public assistance by a political machine.

"The blind of this state were opposed to Proposition No. 4 before the last election and upon its enactment pledged themselves to acquaint the public with its dangers," he concluded.

In the meantime, California's legislators—who for the last 30 days have been recessed, by law, to become acquainted with their constitutients' views on the thousands of bills in the legislative hopper—will have their hands full for the next few months.

Briefly, Governor Warren's $1,060,000,000 budget—an all-time high—promises to raise the most ruckus in the legislative halls. The lawmakers must determine whether expenses can be cut, or whether taxes must be raised to meet the increased budget.

Then, too, labor and business will meet head on before the legislators on a number of issues. An anti-featherbedding bill has been introduced which bans make-work practices in all business and industry. Revised hot cargo measures are on the docket again. Labor is determined to increase unemployment insurance benefits to $40 a week. (The opposition claims that many workers whose take-home pay is low would find it profitable not to work at all if they could be assured of $40 a week.)

The small loans dispute is still a threat to legislative peace, too, and may flare up at a moment's notice. Legislation on highways, disability insurance, water pollution, housing, crime, and a host of other matters could combine to keep the Legislature in session well into the heat of summer.

All in all, the battle under way to repeal Proposition No. 4—and takes pension administration away from the group which promoted it—in conjunction with a highly controversial legislative session, gives promise of heavy electioneering to come. It will be a wise man who keeps tab on proceedings and prepares himself to vote accordingly.

Marching beside the float was the San Tomas Traffic Patrol. We had a state flag and the American flag leading off the San Tomas group. We think it was very successful.

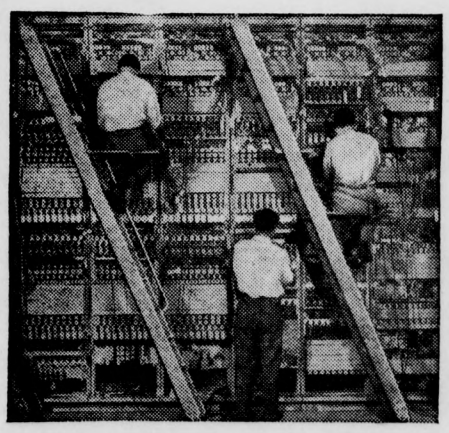
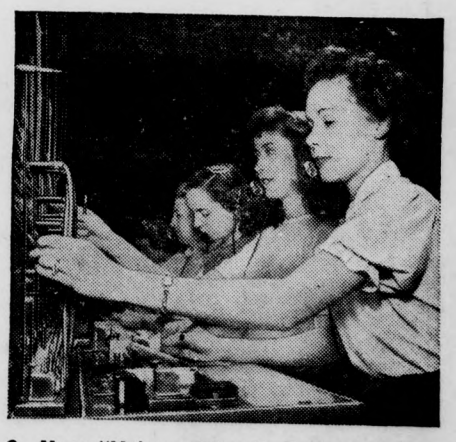
ONE OF TODAY'S BIGGEST BARGAINS

How your telephone gives you more real value today in spite of sharply-increased costs of furnishing service

1. For a quick call to the druggist, for business, for every purpose, your telephone is a more valuable servant today than ever. It can run more errands, do more jobs. In the past ten years, telephones on the Coast have doubled. We're continuing to add them rapidly. Result: You can get in touch with more people. More people can get in touch with you.



2. If you could see how much expensive equipment goes to work for you each time you make a call, you might wonder how it can be done . . . for just a few dollars a month. Lines, cables, poles, buildings, intricate equipment—all must be ready . . . along with the people who man them . . . to serve you when you pick up your telephone.



3. More "Voices with a Smile" are serving the West today . . . our payroll is the biggest ever. Postwar costs have shot up all along the line on the things we do to provide service. The facilities to serve new telephones today cost about twice as much as prewar. Yet telephone rates are up much less than almost anything we buy or you buy.

4. There is no way to determine the full value of a telephone, of course. A call may be routine—or it may save a life, make a new friend, close a business deal. Yet a few pennies still buy a telephone call. In these days of high prices, it's good to know that your telephone keeps giving you real value—it's one of today's biggest bargains.

Planning Commission Head Advises Members Of Valley Homes, Inc. On Plans For New Park Project

Nestor Barrett, head of the Santa Clara County Planning Commission, spoke to members of Valley Homes, Inc., Monday night in the San Tomas school. Barrett talked on the proposed park the veterans of the corporation want to add to the residential district.

Presiding at the meeting was president Del Lucot. Approximately 40 members attended the meeting to hear future plans concerning the latest project.

Barrett told the group that their idea to add a recreational park to Valley Homes was a good one and that he'd cooperate in any way he could.

The men discussed the park plans following Barrett's talk. Committeemen also reported that the fence around the playground of Aquino Park is nearly complete.

Ray Peterson, Standard Lumber Sales of Campbell, advised the group on costs of construction and floor planning for the park project. Bill Shuey, a member of the corporation, showed movies to the group.

Footlighters Pay After Plays; Groups Benefit

The Footlighters just don't act —they pay too! Over the 10-year period since the Campbell drama group began they've donated over $1865 to community projects.

Recipients of the profits from the actors' group are such organizations as the Community Chest, Campfire Girls, Red Cross, Red Cross Camp and Hospital fund, First Aid station, community activities and American Cancer society.

After the Footlighters organized December 6, 1939, they decided to give "Aaron Slick from Pumpkin Creek" as their first production. After it ran for one night February 22, 1940, the group donated $57.50 to the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

Other productions followed rapidly including two major productions and three one-act plays. That year the Campbell Grammar school PTA, the Congregational and Methodist Sunday schools received sizable contributions.

In 1941 the players put on "Under the Gaslight" and gave St. Lucy's Church $53 after the production. Five months later they produced "It Pays to Advertise" for the benefit of the Community Chest.

The largest donation the Footlighters have ever turned over to any one club through 1942 came as a result of the production of "The Scarecrow Creeps." The money, over $92, went to the Campbell Country Woman's club for war relief.

In succeeding years, from 1944 to 1948 the club put on six shows and gave $840.72 to various organizations. In 1948 the club gave $346 from their play "Smilin' Through" to the high school for stage improvements.

Council Records Largest Scout Group In History

During 1949 a total of 4977 boys and adults were members of the Boy Scouts of America within the Santa Clara County council area. This is the largest number in the history of the council.

"The generous publicity given the scouting program during the past year through the columns of the Campbell Press has helped materially toward the attainment of this record," said C. D. Bartlett, council secretery, in a letter to the Press this week. "The scouting membership and the general public were kept well informed of our unit activities and district and council-wide programs in a most effect-manner through the use of pictures and interesting news articles. A review of this very fine cooperation was presented to the recent meeting of the Executive board of the council."

Bartlett believes that the record established in this valley was due to the unselfish cooperation by a large number of individuals and organizations who have faith in youth and believe in the value of scouting as a character-building and citizenship training program for boys.
